God, I'm So Tired.

A 5-minute faith reset for the weary woman —
scripture, prayer, and rest for your soul.

START HERE

To the woman running on empty.

You pour out for everyone — your family, your work, your church, the people who lean on you. And somewhere in the giving, your own cup ran dry. Even prayer can feel like one more thing on the list.

Hear this: you don't have to come to God polished, rested, or "doing better." You're invited to come exactly as you are — tired. This is five quiet minutes to lay it down and be filled again.

HOW TO USE THIS

No pressure, no perfect routine. One page, one breath, one verse at a time. Come back whenever you're empty.

STEP 1

Lay it down

You were never meant to carry it all. Name what's weighing on you, then hand it over.

Today I'm carrying:

"Cast all your care upon him; for he careth for you."

1 PETER 5:7

SAY IT OUT LOUD

"God, I can't carry this and keep going. I'm handing it to You — all of it. Please carry what I can't."

5 verses for an empty cup

When you have no words of your own, borrow these. Read slowly. Let one land.

"Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

MATTHEW 11:28

"They that wait upon the LORD shall renew their strength."

ISAIAH 40:31

"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters."

PSALM 23:2

"His compassions fail not. They are new every morning."

LAMENTATIONS 3:22-23

"Be careful for nothing; but... let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God... shall keep your hearts."

PHILIPPIANS 4:6-7

STEP 3

The 5-minute quiet time

When life is loud, keep it simple. This is enough.

- 1 Breathe (1 min). Slow breath in, longer breath out. "Be still, and know." Let your shoulders drop.

- 2 Read one verse (1 min). Pick one from Step 2. Read it twice — the second time, slower.

- 3 One honest sentence to God (1 min). No fancy words. Just true ones. He already knows.

- 4 One gratitude (1 min). Name one small good thing. Gratitude reopens a tired heart.

- 5 One ask, then release (1 min). Bring Him the one thing. Then leave it with Him and go.

STEP 4

Prayers for the weary

For the days you can't find the words. Pray them as your own.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DEPLETED

Lord, I'm starting today already tired. Be my strength where I have none. Carry what I can't, and help me do the next small thing with You beside me. Amen.

WHEN IT'S ALL TOO MUCH

Father, it's too much and I'm overwhelmed. I lay every name, every worry, every undone thing at Your feet. Trade my striving for Your peace. Amen.

BEFORE BED

God, thank You for getting me through today. I release what I didn't finish into Your hands. Quiet my mind, restore my body, and let me rest in You. Amen.

REMEMBER

Rest is holy.

Even God rested. So can you. Read these and believe them:

- Rest is not laziness — it's obedience. God modeled it first.
- I don't have to earn my worth by exhausting myself.
- Saying no to good things can be saying yes to God.
- My striving doesn't impress Him. My trust does.
- He loves me on my empty days exactly as much as my full ones.

One way I'll let myself rest this week:

Come as you are. Tired is welcome here.

You don't have to hold it all together to be held. Lay it down, breathe, and let Him renew your strength — new every morning, including this one.
